About Coach Adam Taylor:

Adam believes that to have skilled players you must have a great player development system in place. Following his own high school and college basketball career, he went on to coach middle school, high school, college, and semi pro basketball over the last 26 years, Adam has built a skill development program after years of research and study of the many great coaches and skill trainers.

As a coach, Adam focused his energy on learning new offenses and defenses, but then came to the realization that he had all this knowledge about the game, but how did teams win games? Great player development. The His players needed the fundamental skill sets to effectively run those offenses and defenses. Adam's mission with Adam Taylor Basketball® became to create an environment that is focused on skill development.

As the founder of Adam Taylor Basketball®, Coach Taylor has organized and produced camps, clinics, and classes all over the country and has built and modeled his curriculum from what gets the best results. The Adam Taylor Basketball® Skill Development System is built on strong fundamentals. Coach Taylor also focuses on character traits needed to be a great player.

“Every athlete exercises self-control in all things ... I do not run aimlessly ... I discipline my body and keep it under control, lest I myself should be disqualified.”

About Coach Aaron Jones:

Aaron grew up in central Iowa playing soccer his whole life. Aaron graduated from Faith Baptist Bible College, a starter on the men's soccer team for three years.

Aaron has coached soccer for nine years at the club and select levels U8 to U18. Aaron is a certified soccer coach with US E license, NSCAA Goalkeeping Level 1, and Fitness Training diplomas.

This fall will be his first year as the head coach for the Fourth Baptist Varsity Boys Soccer Team, but served as the junior high boys coach and was an assistant to the varsity coach last season.

Aaron looks forward to sharing his love of soccer with younger players who are eager to learn and want to improve their skills.

the challenge of breaking down each skill to its basic parts in order to get the fundamentals right.

More recently, she has coached at the varsity level for many years in Twin Falls, ID and in Owatonna, MN. She loves being with teens and has found volleyball to be a wonderful way to connect in order to build relationships for the gospel.
